25X1 She was searched for 3 hours, with only her captain and chief mate given permission to go ashore.¹

25X1 2. On the morning of 24 April, a group of about 50 men wearing fatigue uniforms 25X1 and caps were escorted by two sentries at the rear of the cattle shed about 150 to 200 meters off. [REDACTED] the two

These seemed to work near the shed, as the sentries frequently went to the cattle shed and also approached [REDACTED] ship.

munde. She was empty and, although about 12 to 14 large cases and several large 25X1 cable reels were lying near her berth, no loading operations were observed on this ship. Soviet tug CHEKHA was ^{also} at the pier and three unidentified merchant ships were in the free harbor zone. Polish tugs MIROSLAW and WIKTOR passed 25X1 [redacted] ship while she was at the pier and at about noon [redacted] towed in [redacted] which, [redacted] ship left port, carried 8,000 tons of ore and took on coal after unloading her the cattle shed, each handling a 50 or 60-ton crane. The two cranes were later berthed on the Neufahrwasser side of the river, floating

25X1 4. [redacted] ship was on her return trap from Panzig-Neufahrwasser to the Kiel Canal, Soviet merchant ship ELATS sailing in ballast was met near buoy 4 on the prescribed swept channel 55 and, at 8 p.m., 25X1 Soviet vessel [redacted] was sighted near buoy 14 on swept channel 1. She had a four-letter name, beginning with the letters A and N, and was painted gray. Her armament was not visible because of the distance. At 8:40 p.m., the Polish steamer SLASK, carrying full cargo, was sighted on an easterly course. A tug with a lighter in tow was sighted near buoy 7a on swept channel 1 at 11:30 p.m. .
Their names could not be made out because of the darkness.
